We appreciate the opportunity to acknowledge and celebrate the culmination of your hard work, dedication, and tenacity as part of this commencement ceremony.

I want to thank our 59th Commencement keynote speaker Adrienne E. Adams, Speaker of the New York City Council for lending her important voice to this event. Most of all, thank you to the stellar faculty and staff at KCC who have guided you on your academic journey, and to your friends and family who have supported your success along the way.

Keynote Speaker

Hon. Adrienne E. Adams

NEW YORK CITY COUNCIL SPEAKER,
DISTRICT 28 COUNCIL MEMBER

Elected speaker of the New York City Council by her colleagues in January 2022, Adrienne Eadie Adams leads the most diverse and the first women-majority Council in New York City history as the first-ever African American speaker.

Under her leadership, the Council has been tackling long-standing inequities. She led the lawmaking body to advance women’s health by passing legislative packages to address persistent racial disparities in maternal health and expand access to abortion and reproductive healthcare. She also created a new $5.1 million budget initiative to fund community safety and victim services at the neighborhood level and securing funding to establish New York State’s first Trauma Recovery Centers.

Speaker Adams and the Council prioritized addressing inequities in the city’s workforce, passing legislative packages to confront the historic lack of diversity in the FDNY and gender- and race-based pay disparities that impact municipal workers. She also helped establish the CUNY Reconnect program that has helped thousands of working-age New Yorkers to return to college in pursuit of a degree after leaving school.

Her leadership has set a new tone for the Council’s leadership in addressing the City’s housing crisis. She put forward an aggressive Housing Agenda with a Fair Housing Framework to increase the equitable production of affordable housing development across the City, while prioritizing deeper affordability, housing preservation, and homeownership.

During her first term, Adams secured record funding for her historically underserved district, investing in schools, parks, libraries, housing, and sanitation services. She advocated for crucial resources during the COVID-19 pandemic and spearheaded the Education Equity Action Plan to implement a comprehensive K-12 Black Studies curriculum in all NYC public schools. As chair of the Committee on Public Safety, she shepherded the passage of critical police reform legislation, including ending qualified immunity and requiring the NYPD to report on vehicle stops with demographic breakdowns. Adams also passed legislation to reform the city’s tax lien sale, protect homeowners and fast-food workers, and return unused commissary funds to formerly incarcerated New Yorkers.

Raised in Hollis, Queens, by two proud union workers, she attended St. Pascal Baylon Elementary School and Bayside High School. After briefly studying at CUNY’s York College, she earned her bachelor’s degree in psychology from Spelman College, minoring in early childhood development.

Prior to public service, Adams worked as a corporate trainer at Fortune 500 companies, specializing in executive training, telecommunications management, and human capital management. She was also a childhood development associate instructor.

She first entered public service as a member of Queens Community Board 12 in Southeast Queens, serving three consecutive terms as chair of the second largest community board in the borough. In 2017, she became the first woman elected to represent District 28 in the City Council, which includes the Queens neighborhoods of Jamaica, Richmond Hill, Rochdale Village, and South Ozone Park.

An active member of Alpha Kappa Alpha Sorority and a longstanding member of the NAACP and the National Action Network, Adams is a dedicated wife, mother, and “cool Nona” within her blended family.

Greetings from the Faculty

Dr. Mary Ortiz

DEPARTMENT OF BIOLOGICAL SCIENCES

Biology professor Mary Ortiz has been inspiring students at Kingsborough Community College for more than three decades.

The long-time Staten Island resident has a B.S. in biology and mathematics from Wagner College, as well as an M.S. and a Ph.D. in biomedical engineering from Rutgers University.

When she was in college, she'd dreamed of becoming an astronaut and applied to NASA's astronaut training program after earning her Ph.D. in biomedical engineering. Luckily for us, NASA rejected her application due to her eyesight.

Before coming to Kingsborough Community College, Dr. Ortiz was a research scientist in biomedical engineering and computer operations at the New York State Institution for Basic Research. She also worked as an emergency medical technician for more than 15 years. She began her teaching career as an adjunct at New York City Technical College and the College of Staten Island and joined KCC fulltime in 1993.

Dr. Ortiz's commitment to her students extends beyond the classroom. After witnessing the challenges her students faced following Hurricane Sandy, she started a tradition of making generous donations to the KCC Foundation Scholarship Fund and encouraging loved ones to do the same.

In the classroom, Mary's enthusiasm is contagious. She uses her engineering background and EMT experience to create engaging, real-world problem-solving exercises. For over 10 years, students in her comparative anatomy class have gained scientific research and field experience by identifying, cataloging, and reporting on birds they've tracked on campus. To date, more than 40 species have paid KCC a visit.

While her eyesight kept her from joining NASA, she encourages students to reach for the stars. Her advice to all students is to "work hard, do the right thing, and never let anyone discourage you from pursuing your dreams."

On behalf of the KCC faculty, she brings greetings to the graduating class of 2024.

Class of 2024 Valedictorian

Mariami Kochiashvili

MAJOR: BIOLOGY

Born and raised in Georgia, Mariami Kochiashvili has always wanted to become a doctor. However, she didn't have access to lab equipment or opportunities to gain hands-on experience for the types of research she was interested in conducting.

In 2022, she decided to move to New York and enroll at Kingsborough Community College, where she chose to major in biology and make the most of everything the college had to offer.

Adapting to life in a new country was difficult, but with encouragement and support from the college community, Mariami soon found a home at KCC. She served as the vice president of scholarship for the college's Phi Theta Kappa (PTK) International Honor Society chapter, and became a member of the National Society of Leadership and Success (NSLS).

Mariami was able to conduct research with a faculty member as part of the CUNY Research Scholars Program (CRSP). Her CRSP project explored managing weight with nutraceuticals, a special type of supplement that provides extra health benefits from food-based sources. In the future, she would like to improve the lives of those affected by Alzheimer's disease by helping identify biomarkers of dementia.

While at KCC, Mariami never forgot the importance of giving back. Her volunteer work as a peer mentor has helped other students do better academically. She also created a vertebrate anatomy dissection guide for general biology classes. It was licensed as an open educational resource, benefiting students beyond KCC by removing the need to buy an expensive textbook.

Her hard work and dedication have resulted in a perfect 4.0 GPA, several Dean's List appearances, and a Dean's List scholarship. As her final achievement, she will represent the class of 2024 as KCC's valedictorian.
