What is National Model United Nations or NMUN?

- NMUN is the acronym for National Model United Nations. With over 4000 university students from all over the world participating, NMUN is the largest and most authentic simulation of the United Nations (UN). Located in New York City, it takes place annually and is partly held at the UN facilities on the East River.
- The goal of the NMUN simulation is to provide students (from over 250 international universities) with a better understanding of the inner workings of the United Nations as they build skills in diplomacy, negotiation and compromise. The structure, organizational design and agenda are set so that the conference is as realistic and comparable to actual UN conferences as possible.
- For more information on the NMUN, visit its website: www.nmun.org

How do I participate in NMUN?

- To become a member of Kingsborough Community College’s NMUN student delegation, you must complete an application, write a 1-2 page essay and participate in a brief interview with the selection committee. Please see the NMUN application form for further eligibility requirements. Applications will be available at the beginning of the Fall 2012 semester.
- If you are selected to participate in NMUN, you must enroll in POL 82 INTERNATIONAL ORGANIZATIONS during the Spring 2013 semester. This course will explore the roles played by international organizations (IO) in world politics, with a special emphasis on the United Nations. This course is a hybrid Honors course, which means that students will receive Honors credits and that about a third of the class will occur online.
