Course Description

English 93 is a pre-freshman writing course focused on the development of critical reading, writing, and thinking abilities necessary for success in college-level courses and the professions. It prepares students for the kinds of learning experiences they will encounter in English and in other disciplines.

Learning Outcomes

[Following are the departmental learning outcomes for English 93. Feel free to re-format these for your own syllabi, but please stay true to these goals.]

By the end of the course, students should be able to do the following:

- Employ a variety of reading strategies (e.g., annotating, determining meanings from context, predicting, close reading) and writing strategies (e.g., reading logs, journals, freewriting, paraphrasing, summarizing) to strengthen reading comprehension.
- Examine how multiple texts address similar themes or topics, compare authors' points of views and approaches, and connect themes and topics to students' own experiences.
- Write logically organized multiple-draft, text-based essays that develop a clearly-stated central idea and that integrate and synthesize course readings.
- Engage in the drafting process, including revision, editing, and proofreading (with and without teacher and peer feedback).

Required Texts

Types of Assignments

[Briefly describe the types and approximate quantity of work that students will do in your course. These in-class and homework assignments can include, but are not limited to, a variety of low-stakes writings, writing-to-read strategies, group work, presentations, quizzes, etc.]

Means of Assessment

Grades are determined as follows:

- Coursework – 20% of total grade
[Please decide how you want to configure class work and its value (for a total of 20%.)]
- CATW – 35% of total grade
- Three Multiple-Draft Essays – 45% of total grade (15% for each essay)
[The third/final essay is cross-read and marked High Pass (HP), Pass (P), or No Pass (NP). Instructors assign grade/points.]

Course Outline

[Provide some sense of the structure of your class over the course of the term. This could be distributed to students under separate cover at a later date, if preferred.]

Attendance

If at any point during the semester you stop attending classes, and you do not officially withdraw from Eng. 93, you will be assigned a WU for this course.

Tutoring

The Center for Academic Writing Success offers tutoring in reading and writing. Students should go to L-219 to schedule sessions during the semester.

Academic Integrity

Please keep in mind that whenever you use someone else's words—or their ideas, even if they are expressed in your own words—you must give credit. This is true regardless of where you find the words or ideas, whether it is a book, a magazine or newspaper, television, or the Internet. This class will include instruction on how to acknowledge your sources. Plagiarism, failing to acknowledge sources or submitting someone else's work as your own, is a serious offense. A plagiarized paper or test will receive a grade of F, and if I discover plagiarism in your work, I will file a request for disciplinary action.

Civility in the Classroom

Kingsborough Community College is committed to the highest standards of academic and ethical integrity, acknowledging that respect for self and others is the foundation of educational excellence.

Civility in the classroom and respect for the opinions of others is very important in an academic environment. It is likely you may not agree with everything which is said or discussed in the classroom, yet courteous behavior and responses are expected. Therefore, in this classroom, any acts of harassment and/or discrimination based on matters of race, gender, sexual orientation, religion, and/or ability are not acceptable. Whether we are students, faculty, or staff, we have a right to be in a safe environment, free of disturbance, and civil in all aspects of human relations.

A brief statement about Access-Ability to alert students with disabilities to reasonable accommodations available to them to facilitate the educational process.

Below is an example of a disability statement that can be used/adapted for course syllabi:

“It is college policy to provide reasonable accommodations to students with disabilities. Any student with a documented disability who may need accommodations in this class is requested to speak directly to Access-Ability Services, D-205, (718) 368-5175 as early in the semester as possible. All discussions will remain confidential.”

Kingsborough’s Diversity Statement¹

“The administration, faculty, staff, and students at Kingsborough Community College believe that the college is best served by having a campus that is truly diverse. We strive to create a campus where the voices, talents, and skills of all members of the college are valued and respected, and where all members of the college community can thrive. We maintain that a student body, faculty, staff, and administration that reflect the diversity of New York City is vital for the success of our community, allowing opportunities for people with different perspectives, abilities and backgrounds to interact with and learn from each other. We at Kingsborough Community College believe that a focus on inclusive excellence – the proactive fostering of greater diversity, inclusion, and ultimately equity at every level of college life – will maximize success for all members of the college community.” (Approved by the College Council on 5/21/2015)

¹ Diversity refers to the range of differences represented in our community, including, but not limited to, differences of race, ethnicity, sex, gender identity and expression, sexual orientation, socioeconomic status, age, physical ability, neurological makeup, learning style, cultural affiliation, country of origin, religion, veteran status or political ideology.
