Prerequisite: NONE
Corequisite: NONE
Pre-/Co-requisite: NONE
Credits: 3
Hours: 3 hours
Course Description: This course introduces students to the history of radical right groups in the United States, with a special focus on the process of radicalization, starting with the Ku Klux Klan of the late 19th century and ending with the Proud Boys, a radical-right organization founded in 2016. Structured largely chronologically, the course explores these groups' origins, ideology, organization, subculture, causes, consequences, and responses. Within this framework, we will analyze the lives and experiences of ordinary men, women, and children who joined these groups, to gain a deeper understanding as to why people become radical right activists.
